Andover High School will hold its annual junior-senior prom at the high school May 27. At the request of students, dinner will be served in the cafeteria and the dance held in the gym. A stir was created last year when the prom was held at a Danvers motel. Some parents and School Committee members objected to the travel distance involved because of the potential safety hazard.

High School Senior Brian Landry, son of Dr. and Mrs. Christopher L. Landry, 10 Woodland Rd., will represent his school on Student Government Day at the State House in Boston April 1. Landry is a member of the football squad, the school Latin Club, the Greater Lawrence Teen-age Republican Club and St. Augustine's Parish. He was elected from a field of 30 candidates.

William Turner, 19 Downing St., has been appointed district deputy grand master for the eleventh Masonic district. He is a past master of Tuscan Lodge, Lawrence and the 19th Lodge of Instruction. In his district are the six lodges of the Greater Lawrence area.

Spokesmen for developers told the Planning Board Monday that an option has been taken on the Jacques farm (Route 133 at 93) and plans drawn for a 40-50 acre garden apartment development. Barrett B. Berliner, architect and Andover Atty. Thomas W. Tanner said the Jacques pro-

Regulations For Parking Re-Written

Despite reports that the Board of Selectmen would like to see the whole thing dropped for the time being, the Planning Board is prepared to go ahead with plans for presenting zoning amendments on parking at the March Town Meeting.

The board will, however, re-advertise a revised version of its proposal for requiring property owners in the central business district to provide a specific number of parking spaces for new or expanded structure.

The updated proposal is a watered down version of the original which would give occupants of business sites near municipal parking facilities a decided advantage over those situated elsewhere in the downtown area.

For example, businesses within 100 ft. of such a lot would be permitted to provide 20 percent fewer spaces than the number otherwise required. Those within 200 ft., 15 percent fewer; those within 300 ft., 10 percent fewer and those within 400 ft., five percent fewer. Beyond this distance, the normal requirements for a specified number of spaces in relation to the usable business

The School Committee approved a $2,506,921 budget for 1966 at its Tuesday meeting, making only small but significant cuts in proposed figures.

Of the total $2,049,925 was voted for salaries and $456,996 for operational expenses, representing roughly a $250,000 increase over appropriations of a year ago. In 1965 $1,848,000 was allocated for salaries and $410,953 for expenses.

Only a little more than $10,000 shaved from Edward I. Erickson's suggested totals for salary expenditures, but this was done in a manner that reflects two important policy decisions, each of which was supported by members Sherman, Moody and Cole and opposed by Galbiati and Doherty.

Something in excess of $5,000 was eliminated with approval of Chairman Robert Sherman's proposal that ratio be dropped as a consideration in the setting of administrative salaries and that any principal's and director's salary increments due be withheld until July, 1966, after spring performance evaluations. This would hold salaries for those at maximum at 1965 levels, and postpone possible increases for others.

In the discussion Dr. Louis Galbiati objected to the sudden elimination of ratio as a salary procedure, and Supt. Erickson joined him in objecting to the abruptness of the move. The superintendent admitted, however, that he considered the ratio system an "unprofessional" method for determining principals' and directors' pays and said he would favor consideration of a new technique for later application.

Enlarge Pomp's, Beautify Downtown Says Paul Cronin

A double barreled proposal for the dredging and enlarging of Pomp's Pond as a recreation and flood control project and the beautification of the centrally located Town Hall block was presented to the Board of Selectmen Tuesday by member Paul W. Cronin.

The selectmen told the board he has already investigated the availability of Federal funds for the pond development and found that the Department of Agriculture has watershed and flood protection monies appropriated for 50% grants on such projects. Urban beautification grants are also possible for as much as half the cost of the program, he said.

In a lengthy statement, Cronin noted that in the past three years he has seen two "seemingly unrelated accomplishments" which have a "great potential for making Andover a more beautiful and also more enjoyable place in which to live."

He referred to the purchase of the Manning property adjacent to the pond bathing beach and the more recent move to acquire the Shorten garage property at the rear of the Town Hall block.

Noting that the shoreline at the pond has been expanded over the years and improvements made in pond facilities, Cronin said that the pond nevertheless has its faults.

He said that apart from the bathing beach area the spring-fed pond is covered with a layer of silt and is usually stagnant. Coupled with the fact that the water is frequently murky and undesirable for swimming, the town has to contend with the fact that the pond must be expanded or costly municipal pools built if Andover is to continue to provide recreation of the quality offered townspeople in the past.

(Right now Pomp's is at such a low level because of the long-term drought that Town Manager Richard Bowen has said there is real doubt that it can be opened for swimming next summer. He recalled that there were many times last year when the water, though safe, was too low to be appealing. The swimming area was

Executive Session Gets Out Of Hand

Supt. Edward I. Erickson broadened an executive School Committee session Tuesday to include discussion of the procedure to be used in releasing a long delayed report on the evaluation of the junior high school by a group of outside educators.

Erickson asked committee members to consider advance summaries of the report, when they receive them, as confidential until the full study can be discussed at the next committee meeting.

There were objections, but the majority finally agreed to Erickson's request.

Out of the discussion, however, came a request from Dr. Louis J. Galbiati for a town counsel ruling on whether or not members of such town bodies are obligated to abide by agreements to keep any information released to them in advance of official meetings confidential.

Chairman Robert Sherman said Wednesday that he regretted the unscheduled subject was brought up at a closed session held for consideration of a personnel matter. It need not have been discussed under these circumstances, he said.

As it stands, Principal William Hart will prepare a summary of the evaluation report for distribution to the committee before the next meeting. Open consideration of the report will follow.

Hot Topics Handed Lt. Gov. Richardson

The Governor's right hand man, Lt. Governor Elliot L. Richardson will be keynote speaker for the annual meeting of the Andover Taxpayers Assn., scheduled for 8 p.m. Jan. 19 in the auditorium at Central School.

The public is cordially invited. Richardson has been asked to speak on what is ahead in state government, and more specifically, to offer his opinions on Commonwealth tax problems.

He is expected to cover other topics which will be of specific interest to Andover, such as the Willis report on education and its future, pollution of the Merrimack and the prospect for financial aid in construction of a regional sewage plant as a cleanup project, the extension of Route 93 as part of the planned Inner Belt, and the possibilities for controls on permissive legislation which imposes financial obligations on cities and towns.

The association also reports that it expects Richardson to com-

Calling All Slips For CO-OP'S 1966 CASH Refund

January is the month of Reverse Flow at the Andover Cooperative.

During the previous twelve months the CO-OP has handed out sales slips for every purchase.

But during the month of January our pink slips come back to us, a claim for each shopper's share of the store's net earnings for the previous year. At a cooperative the consumers receive the net benefits of the year's operation — each in proportion to his patronage — as real CASH.

Because this CASH is distributed locally, it directly benefits the entire local economy.

This Reverse Flow does not come to a stop at the end of a year. Savings for next year's CASH distribution have already begun. Every purchase made at the CO-OP this month contributes directly to our 1967 purchase refund. And so it goes, because —

Center Has Record Year

More than 55 children from Andover and 1,469 children from Essex County were among the 50,000 infants and youngsters who received medical care at The Children's Hospital Medical Center in Boston during the 12 months ended last September 30, the pediatric institution has announced.

Dr. Leonard W. Cronkrite Jr., general director of Children's, said a record number of patients were treated during the year, an annual tabulation has revealed.

Of the 50,000 youngsters cared for at Children's, almost 11,000 were hospitalized for surgery or medical attention. The remainder were treated in one or more of the hospital's 50 out-patient clinics.

The greatest number of patients was in the two to 12-year age span, with the second greatest number in the newborn to two-year-old category. The hospital accepts patients up to 21 years of age.

ment on the Crime Commission report since, as United States Attorney for Massachusetts (1961-1961) he prosecuted the Thomas Worcester case, conducted a grand jury investigation of highway law-breaking frauds and started a drive against organized crime.

A graduate of Harvard College and the Harvard Law School, Lt. Governor Richardson has practiced law in Boston since 1946 in the intervals between periods of public service. A twice-awarded veteran of the D-Day landing at Normandy, he was awarded the Bronze Star for Heroic Service, the Purple Heart and the European Theatre Ribbon with 5 battle stars.

Upon graduation from law school, where he served as president of the Harvard Law Review, he became law clerk to Judge Learned Hand and later to Justice Felix Frankfurter. In 1953 and 1954, he served in Washington as assistant to Senator Leverett Saltonstall.

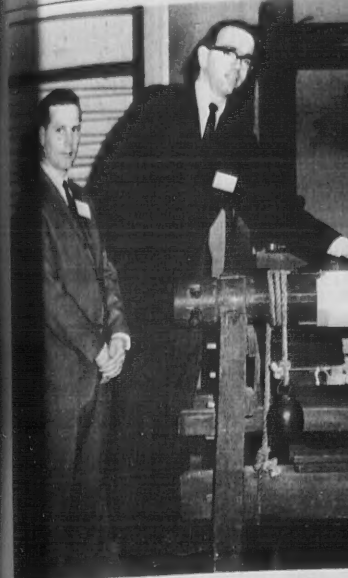

Richardson returned to Washington in 1956 for another three years as President Eisenhower's assistant secretary and, for a time, acting secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. In this capacity, he was responsible for the drafting of legislation on aid to education, social security, public health and welfare, juvenile delinquency, etc.

Andover Girl To Visit GB Next Summer

Mrs. Dale S. Barraclough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Barraclough, 16 Arcadia Rd., will visit Great Britain next summer as a student with the Experiment in International Living.

The Experiment in International Living has been engaged in international educational exchange since its founder, Dr. Donald B. Wray, first introduced a group of American youths to their French and German-speaking counterparts in Switzerland in 1932. It has developed into a world-wide operation with representatives in 58 countries, involved annually in the exchange of more than 4,000 young men and women between the United States and the four corners of the world. The Experiment originated the use of a home-stay in international exchange, a concept since widely adopted by many other agencies.

An Outbound Experiment group typically comprises ten men and women between the ages of 16 and 30, under the guidance of a specially-trained leader, who live for a month as a "son" or a "daughter" of a family abroad. This firsthand opportunity to develop friendships, learn the customs and traditions and participate in the activities of the host country from the vantage point of a family environment is the heart of an Experiment experience. Dizzy

Today we recognize dizziness as a possible sign of serious illness, such as brain tumor.

In earlier times, however, feeling dizzy was not considered a medical symptom. Instead, people thought of it as an indication of silly behavior. The original meaning of the Anglo-Saxon word dysig is "foolish."

By extension, "dizzy" came to be applied to that giddy, swimming, or whirling sensation in the head.

We also still use the word in its original sense to mean flighty or scatterbrained.

A five-week course in Effective Club Work, taught by Mrs. Royal Roulston, Director of Education for the YW and a former N. H. legislator, will start February 3rd.

SCHOOL BUDGET UP $250,000

Moody, the committee also approved the trimming of another $5,000 from the salary budget, half of it to come from natural attrition and half to result from a tighter evaluating of teacher performance at increment time. The $2,500 is to be saved by withholding increments for an undetermined number of teachers who do not merit automatic increases.

Both the Sherman and Moody proposals represent an effort to force the issue of merit as a salary consideration.

The ratio system of establishing a principal's pay involves a computation based on a set statistical relationship between salary and job responsibilities. In each case, this ratio figure is added to what the individual principal would be paid at maximum in the track for which he would qualify as a teacher. Performance is not a factor.

During consideration of Mrs. Moody's motion on teacher increments, Dr. Galbiati accused the committeewoman of trying to arbitrarily establish that there are 10 to 15 poor teachers in the Andover system. He referred to figures Mrs. Moody used in suggesting the maximum she thought might be involved.

In response to a direct query from William Doherty about whether or not she had specific personalities in mind, Mrs. Moody said, "Definitely not." She said she merely considered it impossible that every teacher of the more than 200 employed is doing a top rate job, unless we are "living in an Utopia."

After Mrs. Moody's admission that she did not have any idea how many such teachers would be found in the system, both Doherty and Dr. Galbiati said they thought the budget must allow for the maximum potential. Galbiati did say, however, that he would agree that any teacher who does not receive his superior's recommendation for an increment in the spring should not receive one.

Added into the budget during deliberations were sums to cover the cost of a pilot summer school program for elementary students ($1,400); the price for a professional analysis of the organizational set up of the school department ($41,675); a $1,000 out-of-state travel fund for the School Committee; $2,000 for shrubs to improve school grounds; and $1,000 for flags to be used by the Boys' Band, replacement of belts for the Girls' Band etc.

The addition of a limited number of elementary school classes to the summer school program represents a broadening of policy on this operation. The sessions will be scheduled for one of the elementary school buildings, probably one where opportunities are available for outdoor nature study.

Fees will be charged, as they are for high school summer students, and the program will be directed by G. Arthur Danforth who supervises the secondary school summer session.

Milk Story Made Known

Board of Health minutes on meetings held preceding the decision to revoke the license of Dairies Inc. to deliver milk for school use in Andover were released this week.

Chairman Robert Walsh had refused to comment in advance of official approval of minutes for the unpublished meeting, held Tuesday.

Minutes for the Saturday meeting are sketchy and reveal only that John Broderick, milk and health inspector, had examined samples of milk taken from the school system which indicated contamination by "Coliform Bacteria."

The minutes further state that Edward Brox of Brox Dairies had been warned Oct. 30 that repetition of such contamination would result in the revocation of the school milk delivery license.

The records of an Oct. 11 meeting of the board, also made public this week, show that Brox had been found that the quality of milk being delivered to Andover schools did not meet state and local requirements.

The dairyman told the board that he had had trouble with a Charlotte, Vt. supplier who had been shipping the dairy milk of an "unusually high bacteria count." The minutes show that the board suggested he avoid chasing from this particular supplier.

Neither the minutes of the December nor the October meetings made any mention of a mechanical difficulty which was said to be responsible for the high bacteria count of milk put up in paper cartons. Because of the construction, the machine was reputedly difficult to keep absolutely clean.

The Dec. 4 cancellation order did, however, mention that milk in glass bottles could be delivered to the schools. No reason for the differentiation was given.

The milk contract has since been re-bid and awarded to Findeisen's Dairy, also a Maine company.

space in the building involved would apply.

Once advertised, this revised proposal would apparently leave the way open for planned development of the Killorin property. Danton Realty Trust, Danton has been delayed because it could not comply with the parking regulations as first proposed and make the sort of additions to the Main Street property that Developer John Davidson envisions.

Once zoning changes are advertised, building permits could be issued for projects that would not conform to provisions of a new bylaw or amendment considered and approved.

AHS Student Found Guilty

William J. Monroe, 18, an Andover High School senior was found guilty Monday of operating an automobile last Nov. 7 and held responsible for an accident which resulted in three deaths.

Young Monroe was represented at the Lawrence District Court hearing by Atty. J. Phillip Arsenault. He was sentenced to six months in the house correction, but an appeal has been entered. Surgery for his release was set at $500.

The car Monroe was driving slid on rain slick Rt. 114 in North Andover, near Boston Hill, and cut across the highway into an oncoming car. The accident resulted in the death of another Andover High student, Lawrence Glue, 17, of 8 Barrington Dr. Also dead were Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Standley of Danvers, occupants of the other car. Critical injuries were received by Robert Stachelbeck, 17, of North Andover.

Monroe told the court he was operating at 45 miles per hour when he spotted a wet spot on the highway and tried to slow down. He said the car started to skid to the right, hit the rail and spun back onto the road out of control. He recalls fighting the spin, but says he does not recall telling North Andover police officers at the hospital later that he was driving "not much over 55". The teenager said he applied his brakes just once.

Patrolman Ernest A. Roberts of North Andover said there were tire tracks 76 ft. back from the first of the posts hit by Monroe.

CRONIN MAKES TWO PROPOSALS

not closed, however, except after a chemical weed kill that made the area temporarily undesirable.)

Cronin proposed that the town manager coordinate the activities of the conservation committee, the recreation department, the planning board and other related municipal departments to assess the feasibility of:

- Draining the pond through the outlet near the Girl Scout Camp.

- Bulldozing the silt from the bottom for sale or storage on the island opposite the bathing beach.

- Enlarging the pond by dredging the overgrown swampy area facing the bathing beach.

- Sloping the "hazardous" 100' bank at the recreation park, using the gravel moved for a new, clear, solid pond bottom.

- Building a dam at both the inlet and outlet of the pond for control of the depth.

- Driving a well in the vicinity of the island for use in keeping the pond at full capacity and providing occasional flow and movement.

- Developing the island as a wildlife habitat, particularly along the shores of the pond and the river.

- And replenishing the supply of gamefish killed last year when the chemical spraying of algae during an extreme low water period affected their ability to get oxygen.

In support of his plan, Cronin pointed out that heavy residential development in the near-pond area is causing faster drainage runoff than before and that the enlargement and damming of the pond would permit control of this flow, particularly during a flood period similar to those brought on previously during hurricanes.

In detailing his second proposal, the selectman said that it is expected the present town hall will be vacated within the next two years. (A decision on the location of a new municipal office facility, approved at the last Town Meeting, is considered imminent.) This possibility, plus the immediate need for a new central fire station and the current move to clear the Shorten garage property, will leave the entire block open for new use, he said.

He asked that the manager involve the tree department, local garden clubs, the police department, the planning board and other citizens in planning for the time when a decision must be made on "what the center of town will look like for many years in the future."

In summary the selectman said: "We are now in the midst of more municipal projects and endeavors than any previous board of selectmen has ever had to face. Many of the problems now before us do not have simple answers, but if we are to provide for the future, we must plan properly today. I would hope that the two projects outlined in this presentation would be considered favorably by the board and that they would mark another forward step towards the future."

Mr. and Mrs. William Doyle, 7 Foster Cir., are now living in their winter home in Hollywood, Fla.

Townsmen Adds Staffer For Club - Social News

Mrs. Robert Kenney, 44 Birch Rd., this week joined the staff of the TOWNSMAN and has been assigned news coverage of local club meetings and events, including social activities.

Publicity chairmen of groups seeking newspaper announcements should forward all material to the TOWNSMAN by mail in advance on Monday each week or call Mrs. Kenney at her home on Mondays.

Prior to coming to their new home in Andover in September, 1964, the Kenneys lived for fifteen years in Milton. Mr. Kenney is the systems manager for Carr Fastener Co., Cambridge, and recently was named a trustee of the Dorchester Savings Bank. The couple has two children, Pardon, a student at Phillips Academy and Elizabeth, a fifth-grader at West

School.

A native of Vermont, Mrs. Kenney was graduated from the University of Vermont in 1941. In her junior year, she became the first woman editor of "The Vermont Cynic," the campus newspaper which is published twice weekly. Her future husband, then of Cranston, R. I., was its business manager.

After college, Mrs. Kenney spent a year as a high school English teacher in a Vermont town on the Canadian border. Leaving her native state in 1942, she earned her secretarial training in Boston at Burdett College. Next came a position with Little Brown & Co., publishers, followed by five years of personnel work for the New Haven R. R. dining car department.

Club News Procedure

The Andover TOWNSMAN is pleased to announce that effective with the Jan. 20 issue Mrs. Robert Kenney, 44 Birch Rd., will assume responsibility for all club and social news coverage.

Publicity chairmen for such groups, including PTAs, should address their releases to Mrs. Kenney, c/o of the TOWNSMAN or call her no later than Monday of each week with news of their organization.

We expect this concentrated effort to cover club activities to increase the demand for news space and for this reason point out that the early bird will tend to get the worm - the publicity chairman who thinks ahead a week will find that her material will receive first attention.

In any event, all such news must be received in the TOWNSMAN office no later than Monday of the week publication is expected or telephoned direct to Mrs. Kenney at 475-3163.

Picture requests should be made AT LEAST one week in advance.

With this move, the TOWNSMAN completely eliminates the old neighborhood correspondent system and will attempt to provide broader coverage than this system has made possible in recent months.

We will hope for cooperation, and look forward to receiving small items on personal comings and goings along with news of various community activities.

Cold vs Hot Water Washes

If the water isn't hot, can the clothes be clean?

Since the advent of cold water detergents, housewives have been asking about what happens to the bacteria count when laundering in cold water.

To answer these inquiries the U. S. Department of Agriculture began new tests with actual family washes. This was done as part of long range research on survival of bacteria in home laundering using both hot and cold water.

Earlier studies indicated that large numbers of bacteria survive laundering with both hot and cold water.

In recent tests with cold water detergent, comparisons were made with and without disinfectants. The same concentration of disinfectants were used with cold water which had proved effective with hot water.

With no disinfectant, far more bacteria survived in cold water than in hot water washes.

When scientists added the appropriate amount of chlorine to the wash cycle, or quaternary disinfectants in the rinse, bacteria count was cut to 40 or less per square inch of fabrics at the end of the spin-dry cycle - regardless of the water temperature.

On the other hand, when laundry was washed in cold water with cold water detergent, the addition of phenolic or pine oil disinfectants in the wash cycle was relatively ineffective in reducing the bacteria level.

Water temperatures ranging from 57 degrees to 64 degrees Fahrenheit during cold water laundering and 122 degrees Fahrenheit to 140 degrees Fahrenheit during hot water laundering.

Dr. Joseph W. Gemmell Jr. Dentist Opens Andover Office

Dr. Joseph W. Gemmell Jr., for the past two years a staff dentist for the U. S. Air Force, has opened offices for the practice of dentistry at the Colonial Center, 186 N. Main St.

Dr. Gemmell was valedictorian of the 1959 class at Merrimack College where he graduated with an AB degree in biology. In 1963 he graduated from Georgetown University School of Dentistry, Washington, D. C., after which he entered the United States Air Force and was assigned to the Medical Service School, Gunter Air Force Base, Montgomery, Ala. From here Captain Gemmell was ordered to Chanute Air Force Base Hospital, Rantoul, Ill. for a two-year stint.

He is a member of the American Dental Assn., the Merrimack Valley Dental Society and on the board of directors of the Merrimack Valley Cerebral Palsy Assn.

Dr. Gemmell resides with his wife, the former Anne Rees of Breaux Bridge, La., and their two children at 244 Andover St.

Evening Study Breaks Record

The Andover Evening Study Program enrolled 1,377 students for its 1965 session, 45 more than in 1964 and 68 more than in 1963. These figures were reported to directors last month by Frederick A. Peterson, chairman.

Students came to Phillips Academy from 69 cities and towns to attend 35 classes. Andover, Lawrence, North Andover and Methuen, furnished the largest number of students, 922 altogether, but such distant towns as Rockport and Wethersfield were also represented.

Peterson also reported that the average class attendance was up from preceding years. Fifteen classes had 90% or better average attendance; seven had 100%.

New courses that attracted an unexpectedly large enrollment were Francis McCarthy's "Philosophy", J. Allyn Bradford's "Existentialism", Harrison Royce's "The Challenge from Asia", and Robert McQuillan's and Charles Pierce's "20th Century Literature".

At an earlier meeting in November the board elected R. Rennie McQuillan to succeed Peterson as director of the program.

Conservation I

In most communities conservation was for long years the preoccupation of a handful of fusty old nature lovers who with advancing age became so enamoured of the status quo that they were an irritant to the progressive.

But the space-age conservationist is a different breed of cat and to him goes the credit for both state and national legislation drafted to protect an exploding population from the side effects of its proliferation.

Today's conservationist is succeeding where his predecessor failed because he has made the preservation of man his first concern, and illustrated with facts and logic how the balances and checks of nature relate to the well being of mankind.

The legislation he has spawned is directed toward that end: now it is a public responsibility to see that his disciples do not interfere with just administration of the measures.

Andover is already deep into its first real estate controversy over provisions of the new Commonwealth Hatch Act which gives a state agency the right to intercede where planned development poses a threat to public or private water supplies or proper flood control.

The Board of Selectmen, Water Supt. Donald C. Bassett, the town's conservation commission and private conservation groups are all on record in opposition to plans of Acreage Development Corp. for reclamation of a strip of wetland that is part of a broad swamp adjoining Fish Brook.

Bassett is opposed because he fears the dig and fill operation would disturb a layer of clay-like, non-soluble dust that covers a section of the acreage to be developed. If this dust were to settle into Fish Brook, says Bassett, we might be pumping a murky brown runoff into Haggett's Pond next spring instead of the clear, potable water we expect to trap with a dam now under construction.

The Selectmen are opposed because they cannot see chancing pollution of Haggett's and because they want the town's investment of nearly $1 million to pay off as a hedge against continuation of the long term drought.

Discussion of this particular case may already be academic because potential solutions are under discussion that could satisfy both the developer and the town.

We bring it up because it seems worthwhile, early in the game, to speak out against the uncompromising attitude of some "conservationists" who voiced opinions at recent meetings held to discuss the pros and cons of Acreage Development site plans.

The enforcement of land use regulations, however much for the public good, will frequently impinge on individual rights. There is no help for it. This makes it all the more important that such laws be administered impartially, with the spirit of compromise that a commissioner for the state Department of Natural Resources displayed here at a fact-finding session on the Acreage Development case.

There can be no quarrel with those who complain bitterly of what some developers did to the countryside particularly in near-urban areas, during the post war rush to provide housing for clamoring families. Haste, poor planning, ignorance and just plain profiteering are responsible for some real messes.

But not all contractors have horns. And a considerable number of just plain people who will want eventually to sell off their lands for development have a right to expect to make a profit, one that will at least compare favorably to that reaped by the landowner who grew fat on sales made in advance of Hatch Act restrictions.

We must weigh what it is worth to tamper with a man's individual rights against the public good involved, and measure his full investment in terms of time, cash and commitments when stockpiling evidence.

Armed with what we now know about man's ability to reshape the earth, we must protect our remaining natural resources.

This fact does not give us the right, however, to ride rough shod over the property owner, even in the name of conservation.

Conservation II

To what extent can the public expect the private land owner to bear the cost of conserving that which is for the ultimate good of the masses?

This question is provoked by the increased demands for control of development of land areas that relate to both the physical and psychological needs of man.

Allen Morgan, executive director of the Massachusetts Audubon Society told an Andover audience some months ago that conservation issues have new meaning for today's society, confronted on the one hand by rapid technological development and on the other by an ever expanding population.

"We have it within our power to deliver blows against nature that she cannot withstand," he said.

The conservationist drew on his experience to detail how closely related a favorable tax rate can be to the preservation of green areas, for example. He illustrated graphically the sort of flood, drainage and water supply problems that can result from over development.

And he pointed out that law enforcement and hospital costs soar in the kind of heavily populated areas that degenerate into slums.

More important, Morgan reported that we are just beginning to measure the extent to which man can suffer psychologically from over crowding. Scientists have already, he said, induced nervous breakdowns in warm blooded animals as large as mice simply by forcing them to live in congested surroundings. It can be that peace of mind will become a more compelling reason for the support of conservation than all the familiar, logical reasons.

The realization of the pressing need for conservation makes it imperative that the community formulate and move ahead with an overall conservation policy. Land use and zoning laws are a protection, but clearly a conservation policy cannot, nor should it, be fully based on the control of the individual.

If we want to be sure of having a place to stretch our legs, we must draft and act upon plans for public control of some green areas and coordinate municipal acquisition plans with those of private conservation groups.

based upon the concept, contradictory in substance, that people elected to public office do not command the information, initiative and good political insight required to perform their obligations, yet they do have those qualities when it comes to discerning which person is best to hire from a group each of whom proclaims he is so equipped.

Such an arrangement cannot help but strengthen the opinion that selectmen need not understand the composition, administration and delegation of our civic affairs, or have leadership qualities. The most that is necessary is that town meeting vote the money, with an increase each year, so that the selectmen can buy the services of a self proclaimed expert. He, in turn, merely uses town tax money to buy the services of experts whenever a decision of importance is required.

In the rignmarole of hiring an operational manager to hire consultants to find out what is already in most good business libraries, the lack of initiative and leadership is made to appear unnecessary. Of equal consequence, the cause of the costliness of Andover's Office of Selectmen can be conveniently attributed to anything but its short comings. The decisions it advocates are made elsewhere.

Andover doesn't have a very satisfactory position in the table on "per capita cost of government." As a matter of fact, out of fifty towns cited, only eleven show a greater cost per capita for the government of their various communities for the year 1915 than does Andover. Many more, however, do show a rapid increase in cost for the last two years which seems destined to put them in the selected list of spendthrift governments in a very short time.

The peak of the widespread prevalence of colds, grippe, influenza and pneumonia has passed, according to a statement released by the Board of Health this week.

Bank Board Approves Quarterly Dividend

A report of substantial growth in deposits, stepped up activity in home financing, climaxed by a vote to pay dividends on a quarterly basis, rather than semi-annually, highlighted Monday's 132nd Annual Meeting of the Andover Savings Bank.

In a year end summary to trustees and corporators, Robert M. Henderson, president announced that for the 12-month period ending December 31 savings deposits were up $2,610,000, bringing total deposits to an all time high of $37,898,000. He pointed out that this represented a gain of 7.4%.

Trustees were told that total dividends paid to depositors during the past year amount to $1,435,736, the highest dividend payment in the history of the bank. Latest dividend rates on deposits are 4% per annum on regular accounts and 4-1/2% per annum on special notice accounts.

Reviewing the mortgage picture, Henderson reported that investment in real estate loans for the year showed a net increase of $3,387,000, bringing the total mortgage portfolio to a new peak of $2,512,000. Trustees were further informed that during 1965 the bank wrote a gross of $8,085,000 in new mortgage loans, the bulk of which were made on residential properties, primarily in the Greater Lawrence area.

Henderson also disclosed plans calling for extensive renovations to the banking floor of the Andover office in order to solve a space problem brought on by increased business.

"When this program is completed," he said, "we will have a more spacious lobby area for customers, a more compact working area for tellers and a new section for interviewing and servicing the needs of our customers for mortgages, personal loans and savings bank life insurance."

New corporators elected at this meeting were James K. Dow, Jr., 46 Salem St. and Charles G. Hatch, 3 Appletree Ln.

Special tribute was made to Louis S. Finger, formerly president of the Andover Savings Bank, who now retires as a trustee after more than thirty years of service to the bank. He will continue as one of its corporators. Phillip S. Clements, 39 Sunset Rock Rd., Andover was elected as a trustee to fill Mr. Finger's vacancy.

Viet Crisis Is Described

Dr. Roger Hillsman, professor of public law and government and former assistant Secretary of State for Far Eastern affairs, spoke Monday at Phillips Academy on "Crisis in Vietnam".

His talk was the first in a series of four Henry L. Stimson lectures scheduled for this winter. The lectures on Asian subjects by distinguished authorities are open to the public.

This series is sponsored by the Asia Society of Phillips Academy and is named after Henry L. Stimson who was an alumnus of P.A. and president of the board of trustees from 1935 to 1946. Stimson held the office of Secretary of State at the time of the Manchurian crisis in 1931 and was deeply interested in the Far East. He was the author of "Far Eastern Crisis."

The next lecture, "Working View of Village India" will be given on Jan. 26 at Kemper Auditorium at 6:45 p.m. by Richmond Mayo-Smith former director of Literary Village in Lucknow, India. Mayo-Smith is headmaster of Roxbury Latin School.

On Feb. 9 Dr. Charles Chu, Professor of Chinese Studies at Connecticut College, will discuss "Chinese Painting", also at 6:45 p.m. in Kemper Auditorium.

series will be given on Feb. 25 at 10 a.m. by Thomas Weil, Weil counselor of the embassy and Consul General (Ret.) of the United States Foreign Service, plans to speak on "Communist China and Asia".

Winter Building

Construction slowed down as winter set in during December, a fact that is reflected in the number of starts reported for the month.

During the month Inspector Arthur Peatman signed permits for construction and other building activities on projects valued at $468,575. He collected fees of $403.

Dwelling permits were cleared for the following: 84 Cross St., Martin T. Caughey Jr., 20,000; Lowell St., Sarcione Const., 19,000; Jenkins Rd., Irene A. Cetlin, 14,000; Lowell St., Sam DeSalvo, 17,000; Farrwood Dr., Paul L. Warren, 28,000; Farrwood Dr., Paul Warren, 24,000.

White On White Exhibit

"White on white," the current exhibition at the Addison Gallery, Phillips Academy, is composed of 65 works of art — pictures, sculpture and constructions (which are neither one nor the other) wherein a variation of white is the only device by which form is modulated.

Assembled by the DeCordova Museum in Lincoln, Mass., this exhibition represents artists working in Asia, South America, and Europe, as well as in the United States. It has been borrowed from private collections, museums, art dealers and the artists themselves.

The breadth of interest on the part of modern artists the world around is revealed in a way that demonstrates that old artistic forms no longer satisfy at a time when space, time and movement play such a dominant role and prompt a fresh look at reality. The desire to simplify is part of the artist's response to the complexities of the day. New realities are sought and realized. As F. P. Walkey, director of the DeCordova Museum puts it: "White on White" is not a movement or style, but a mode in which many artists of differing persuasions have worked. It is of interest not only as a demonstration of the multiple visual effects that can be obtained with white, but also as evidence of the new techniques emerging in the world of art. Some critics view the new art with favor and have described it as "cool art," "idiot art" and "nothing nihilism." Others have described it as "a new sensibility" and view it as the most vital and significant development on the international art scene today, a movement that pervades all the arts and attracting some of the world's most active and intelligent artists.

Wandering among the six rooms devoted to the exhibition, the visitor may at first be perplexed by the strangeness of the solid white shapes; he may perhaps even find them monotonous, but after awhile each work begins to assume its own character as the armchair, upholstered with "puppy dog tails" by the Japanese artist, Yayoi Kusama; or, the vibrating array of cubes, the troops on maneuver, by the Tamasello from Argentina; the "Big Cloud", formed by hundreds of white nails, the work of the German, Gunter Rambow; or, the expanse of blank, white canvas punctuated by a tiny spot, no more, like toothpaste on an empty tile floor by Otto Pommer, likewise from Germany. The white plexiglas planes which overlap each other like clouds flaring across the sun by Colin Grant, now in America, of English parentage, possesses its own identity as do most of the works in the exhibition. The very titles denote the artists' interest in ways of the physical world — for example, "Mobilo-static" by Belgian W. LeBlanc; or, "Sonants in Dissonance" by Englishman, P. Lloyd-Jones; titles are more simply descriptive as in the case of "Shaped Canvas" by the Italian Scheggi; or, "White with Dashes" by the Spaniard, Tapias.

The Addison Gallery is open without charge to the public on weekday, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; 2:30-5 p.m.

Interior Planned

Monday evening the library board of trustees met with James F. Clapp Jr. of Shepley, Bulfinch, Richardson and Abbott, the architectural firm designing the new library wing. Clapp is the architect of the new addition.

Last week representatives of the firm and members of the library staff met to determine specifications for library furniture. An earlier meeting did the same for new shelving in three stack areas.

Spoken Records

Mrs. Cleveland Gilcreast of the audio-visual department has prepared an up to the minute list of the spoken records owned by Memorial Hall Library. A copy may be had by asking at the circulation desk.

Spoken records are in great demand by library users. Among the most frequently requested are Dylan Thomas reading his own works, modern drama and the plays of Shakespeare, and prominent personages addressing the nation as in the inaugural addresses of Eisenhower, Kennedy, Roosevelt and Truman or Douglas MacArthur speaking to Congress on April 19th, 1951. A. A. Milne's perennial favorite, Winnie the Pooh, is owned by the library in a Latin translation which is read by Dudley Fitts who also does a Yale series of recorded poets.

Andover Christians Join In Plans For Prayer Week

Andover Christians will join with millions of the faithful on every continent of the world in observing a Week of Prayer for Christian Unity Jan. 18-25.

Those who have organized the prayer schedule report that the week is intended as "a focusing of Christian witness and a stimulant for common encounter in that prayer which should be an urgent part of our petition as Christians the whole year round."

The ministers involved consider that the prayer for unity, if it is to have full value, must be coupled with information, personal reflection, the cultivation of new personal relationships and action. It is intended that the week of common prayer will serve as a spiritual point of departure for those interested in this end and as the beginning of a more dynamic and authentic spirit of ecumenism

Civil Rights Panel Topic

A nationally known Civil Rights leader, Rev. Vernon E. Carter, will spearhead a panel discussion on "Religion and Civil Rights"
Thursday, Feb. 3 at 8 p.m. at Kemper Auditorium, Phillips
Academy under sponsorship of the Andover Citizens for Equal Opportunities. The public is invited.

Rev. Carter, pastor of All Saints
Lutheran Church in South Boston, has long been active in efforts to achieve better opportunities in of the offices of the Boston school committee during last spring's struggle to get the committee to recognize the existence of racial imbalance in Boston schools.

Rev. Carter will be joined by several members of the local clergy.

An informal coffee hour open to all will follow the meeting.

Vietnam Is Club Topic

Captain J. A. Crowley, 3rd Ordnance Detachment of the U. S. Marine Corps will speak to a Father & Son banquet audience at tonight's meeting of the Andover Service Club.

The dinner meeting will be held at the Parker House, Andover following a 5:30 p.m. social hour. Capt. Crowley's subject will be "The Vietnam Nation" and he is expected to give a first hand report on why this country is committed to help the South Asian country.

Members may bring their own sons, or the sons of neighbors.

Big Surplus Is Predicted

From a usually reliable source it was learned this week that the Town of Andover may finish the year with the largest fiscal surplus in its history.

The figure mentioned was something approximating $1 million.

The surplus, whatever the final figure, will be in unencumbered funds, available for reappropriation. It will not include sums for capital expenditures projects still hanging fire, i.e. the town hall and police station.

The large surplus will result from administrative savings and revenues in excess of estimates.

The first public news of the overall budget will be released Friday of this week and will be detailed in the Jan. 20 issue of the TOWNSMAN.

School Dept. Study Ok'd

Dr. Ray C. Dethy, director of the graduate school of education at Northeastern University will head a three-man consulting team which is to study the current administrative organization of the Andover school system and make recommendations for any changes thought desirable.

Unanimous approval of plans for the study was voted Tuesday by the School Committee. The choice of Dr. Dethy for the job was Supt. Edward L. Erickson's, made after the committee asked him to investigate the possibilities of such a study and follow up with recommendations.

In a prospectus, Dr. Dethy said that his group would recommend two or more patterns of administrative organization consistent with:

1. Andover's educational aspirations.

2. All state and local legal and regulatory requirements.

3. Future public school enrollment characteristics of the community and

4. Andover's projected financial ability to support the recommendations.

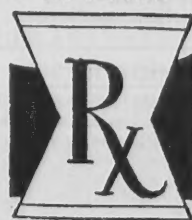

Chairman Robert Sherman expressed concern over the consultant's stated intention of determining the community's educational aspirations through discussions with the School Committee, selected administrators and "others." Sherman said he believed ideas on this subject should be gathered also from people not directly connected with the school system or its policy board.

Dr. Louis Galbiati said that he felt members of the committee, as representatives of the people should be qualified to pass along the sort of information they accumulate from citizens about the kind of school system the public wants.

It was nevertheless agreed that the consultants would be advised that the committee wishes it to talk some people outside the school system on the subject of aspirations.

League Luncheon Topic

The role of a suburban community in providing compensatory education for slum children will be discussed here Jan. 20 at the winter luncheon of the Andover League of Women Voters.

Arthur Danielson, superintendent for the Sharon school system will speak on the subject to an audience of League members and local educators.

Under Danielson's leadership, Sharon is currently demonstrating what a suburban community of limited financial resources can do for its own children and for children from slum areas through a program which includes the busing of 50 elementary school students from Roxbury and Dorchester to participate in an integrated summer school staffed by Sharon personnel.

Invited as guests for the luncheon are the Andover superintendent of schools, the director of guidance, principals and members of the School Committee.

The meeting is scheduled for 12:15 p.m. at Holiday Inn, Rt. 114. Reservations may be made with Mrs. R. Wayne Lone or Mrs. Norman Viehmann.
